CHARIOT STAFF

DEDICATION

Many yearbooks are introduced each year. Few are unique. Yet common to all is a word which should be synonymous with institutions of higher learning. This word is knowledge.

This book is not dedicated to human beings. They are transient. Rather it is dedicated to the things they have left behind. This is what makes knowledge what it is.

We need only to look at the legacy of the Greeks for the foundations of our present-day knowledge. Plato, Socrates, Aristotle, Demosthenes are only a few of the many Greek names that are commonly known. Yet few of us realize the contributions that the Greeks have made to our present-day culture. I say present-day culture because time is relative in regard to knowledge. We cannot call these people ancient because the connotation attached to this word ancient means that their ideas are obsolete, discarded, or were only useful for the time of the Greeks themselves. Inquiry proves this false.

We still have not answered Socrates' question of what justice is although we all seem to have an idea of what it is not. Have you ever stopped to pose that question sometime in your life and only developed generalities because that is where man's mind rests most easily? We venture to say that we haven't added as much to man's knowledge of himself as we sometimes think. Yet we always initiate our search for knowledge with the Greeks.

When we think of Greece we think of Athens, of democracy, of Plato and his Republic, and some of the greatest contributions to society that the world has yet known. Vivid in our minds are the tragedies of Aeschylus, Euripides, and Sophocles. Names such as Homer and his Iliad and the Odyssey are all so familiar. Taken individually they are artistic accomplishments of great magnitude; taken collectively they point out the vast legacy of debt that is owed to the Greeks. We are indebted to them not because they were noted for their proficiency with the sword, but rather because their minds were keen and razor-edged.

We here at New Haven College, as do all college students, have obligation to these Greeks. We can never hope to repay the vast legacy of knowledge that they have given us. But we can add to this knowledge. We can use the knowledge that we have the opportunity to gain at New Haven College to provide us with a foundation to enhance and enlarge our intellects. We have the opportunity to leave a legacy of our own that may some day be considered as adding to man's knowledge. We have the opportunity; we have the responsibility. It is up to each one of us individually to fulfill this responsibility.

The Chariot Staff takes great pleasure in presenting to you, the class of nineteen hundred sixty-three, this year's issue of the yearbook — the first to be published by New Haven College.

In this book we have tried to capture our school life as we have lived it in the past — and as we will remember it long after we bid farewell.

This staff has achieved the distinction of being the first to have completed a great undertaking, the editing of a new book in a new, fast-growing institution.

We hope that this book will act as a pioneer for yearbooks of the future.

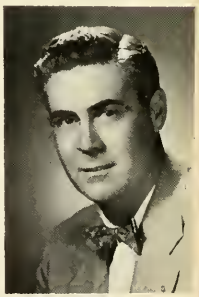
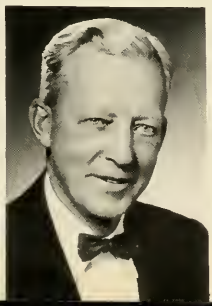
THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS

The New Haven College Board of Governors salutes the staff and advisors of this first edition of The Chariot. Although the Board deals primarily in policy matters, finance, evaluation, and planning, we are very much interested in the students and alumni. What they are and what they do in the future for the community and for themselves is the final test of how well the faculty, the administration, and the Board have fulfilled their responsibilities.

One of the advantages of an independent community college like this is that its students can return at any time in the future for studies attuned to their interests and needs. We look forward to their continued interest and support in our mutual efforts to make the time spent at New Haven College satisfying and stimulating.

ROLAND M. BIXLER
Chairman of the Board





THE PRESIDENT

To The Graduates

This is the first time a president of New Haven College has been able to offer his congratulations to a graduating class in the form of a yearbook message. There is great meaning in this opportunity because the very existence of a yearbook is tangible evidence of our changing college. The three years at our West Haven campus have seen phenomenal change and growth, most of which has pertained to our full-time programs.

This quantitative change presents a very important and grave question: Are we aware that a change upward in quantity alone is not enough? This year's evaluation and re-accreditation of all our existing programs indicate that we have been concerned with quality. We are gratified that educators from without our own walls found us more than acceptable. We are challenged by the recommendations they have made, and find them justified. All point toward making good quality better and we accept these challenges and will meet them.

We believe that we have overcome the many basic and urgent problems of our quick transition. We have the necessities to work with, we have a real student body in both numbers and spirit, and we have the basic faculty and staff upon which we can build an ever-stronger teaching and administrative organization.

Just as our College grows, so does the alumni. Some of you will continue your education here and not become alumni for two more years, but whether now or then, we challenge you to accept the responsibilities of a good alumus. The best wishes of our entire College Family, and my own, go to each of you who are granted your degrees this year.

Marvin K. Peterson

ALLEN C. HUTCHINSON, Ph.D.
Dean

To The Graduates

As many commencement speakers emphasize, the Commencement Exercises represent your entry into a new life — a beginning. Although this is oft-repeated, it is very true.

You graduates are blessed and cursed with an entry into a very dynamic and technological society that will require your constant alertness and continued educational training whether it be on a formal or informal basis.

Methods must be found, for example, to speed up the education and training of specialized manpower: new education-industry relationships must be formed; innovations between educators and professional and technical societies are needed. Other vital sectors of our society, in addition to officials of higher education, are intimately involved in the solutions to our manpower problem.

But the challenge to you as college graduates in the total spectrum of responsibility calls for further daring exploration, objective analysis and action. In brief, your education is just beginning.

Dean Hutchinson

PHILLIP KAPLAN
Director of Evening Division

I should like to take this opportunity to extend to the students of the Evening Credit Program who are receiving degrees at the June commencement my congratulations and best wishes for future success. Your enthusiasm for education has been remarkable and the sacrifices that you have made to obtain it deserve the warmest approval of the faculty and administration of the college, of your families and your community.

It is our hope that many will continue their education. In this endeavor I know that you will have the fullest support and encouragement of all associated with the College.

P. Kaplan

DAY STUDENT COUNCIL

THE OLD and THE NEW

We, the members of the class of 1963 have had the unique opportunity of seeing our college grow. Through its rapidly changing stages, we watched it, helped it, and nursed it in its growth. From Prospect St. and College Woods to its new location and additional buildings in West Haven, we were there.

With the growth in size, also increased the number of students. And with more students, more sports, activities, clubs and organizations began to form. We helped form these, with the pride of knowing that the foundations that we laid will last for years to come.

We saw many firsts: the first Day Student Council, the first Drama Club productions, the first Freshman Week, the Chess Club, the Dance Band, Fraternities and many others.

But perhaps more important, we saw new paths of knowledge open before us: Arts and Science, Mechanical Engineering, Social Administration . . . And following the example of the Greeks of centuries before us, we pursued this knowledge — making us better, more informed citizens.

We saw the Administration and Faculty handle the additional problems of rapid development — and when possible we helped to overcome some of these problems. We helped the library to grow in many fields to meet the many new courses by our Benefit Concert at Woolsey Hall and our Bookdrive.

We'd like to think that, like the Greeks, we are leaving a path to the future. We will never forget New Haven College for we were, are, and shall remain, a part of it.

FIRST STUDENT COURT — 1962

John Peckingham, Presiding; Ralph DeVivo, Bette Spodnick, Secretary; Thomas Sloane, Past President of the Student Council; Mr. Ghoreyeb.

The Student Court was created in 1962 to cover infractions of the school rules by any Day Student. It has a two-fold purpose: 1) to decide if a violation of the rules has occurred, and, 2) to analyze and affix penalties if required.

Findings of the Court are recommendations to the staff and reflect Student Opinion in Student Discipline.

PARENTS' TEA COMMITTEE

Standing: Robert W. Bailey, Judith Fazekas, Stephen Holcomb, Anthony Rescigno.

Each year parents of new students are invited to a Tea in the Student Lounge. At this time parents are given guided tours of the school buildings and may discuss problems with instructors and staff members. Teas are planned by members of the Freshman class with the assistance of Mrs. Seaman.

THE DRAMA SOCIETY

A scene from "The Glass Menagerie" starring Lois Gregory, Phelps Montgomery, Arlene DeMarco and John Sullivan — Spring 1962.

The New Haven College Drama Society was organized at the start of the fall semester of 1961. The first project of the club was to rebuild the existing stage facilities and then to present plays. The work was planned to be done, as far as possible, by the students themselves under faculty supervision.

By the end of the fall semester the stage had been completely rebuilt and curtains and a permanent lighting system installed. The first production on the new stage was an evening of one-act plays. Included were "Hello Out There," by William Saroyan, "He's Dead All Right," a comedy by John Gainfort, and "Krapp's Last Tape," a dramatic monologue by Samuel Beckett.

The first full-length play presented by the society was "The Glass Menagerie," by Tennessee Williams. This was a spring production.

The Club's latest production was Arthur Miller's "A View From the Bridge" in February of 1963.

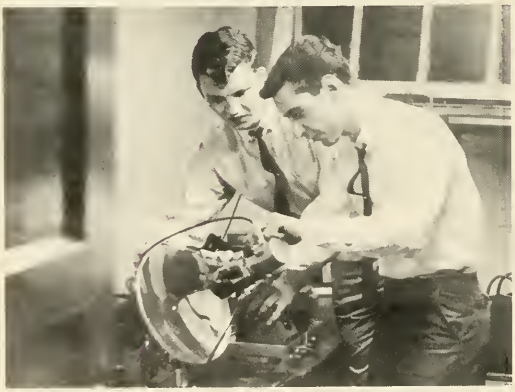
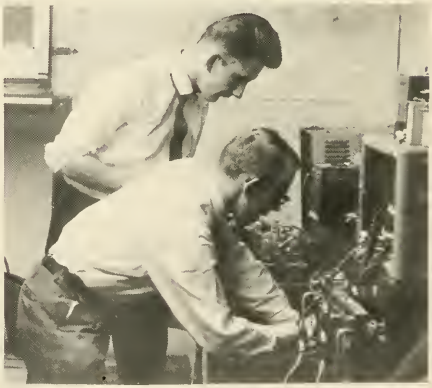
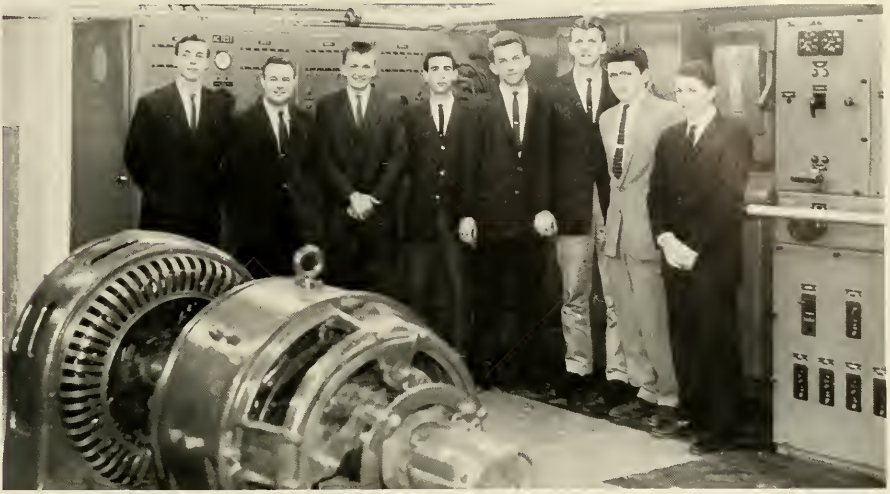
I don't know if it belongs here, but it looks good!



Don't ask me. I'm an engineer!





- - - - - - - It's the Radio Club trying to contact the man on the moon again. They've been insistent on this project since they were recognized as a dejure organization in May of 1962. The Club hasn't succeeded yet in contacting the moon, but the members have contacted other stations in the United States and other countries here on Earth, from their station in the school.

The members are all students at NHC with interests in developing skills in electronic design and experimentation. Microwave experimentation was one of the club's projects this year, with speakers on recent advances advising the club.

NEW HAVEN COLLEGE — SOCIETY FOR ADVANCEMENT OF MANAGEMENT

OFFICERS OF S.A.M.

Gerald L. Bertiaume, Treasurer: A. William Sauter. Vice-President: Raymond Manville, President: Patricia Baines, Secretary.

The first meeting of the New Haven College — Society for Advancement of Management was called to order by President Robert Hilditch October 2, 1961 with a total of eight members. Under the guidance of President Peterson, Dean Hutchinson, Joseph Arnold, Chairman of Ind. Eng. Dept., the Student Council and the Senior New Haven Chapter the College began a program to enhance membership so as to be able to obtain a charter from the University Division of the Society for Advancement of Management.

First on the agenda for the following months was hard work as members and advisors met night after night to solve the many problems of a newly formed chapter. To establish a program worthy of New Haven College members sat in on senior meetings and activities to study their systems, procedures and programming.

After six months of laboring the first step of the long staircase was taken and New Haven College sent into the National Division applications for thirty members and a request for a charter on March 21, 1962. March 24, 1962 a dinner-meeting was held by the senior chapter combined with New Haven College and Quinnipiac College to celebrate the obtaining of the New Haven College Charter.

The first year as chartered chapter has been spent largely in the planning of next year's program coupled with the programming for the present year. Resolved was a program for — MOCK ARBITRATIONS — LECTURES — PLANT TOURS — MOVIES — ROUND TABLES — DEBATES — TRAINING PROGRAMS — ANNUAL OUTING — GRADUATE PROGRAM — where the senior chapter has devoted its efforts to placing the graduating members of S.A.M. combined with a special commencement day program where members in good standing are awarded a year's membership into the senior chapter.

STUDENT DANCE BAND

"What'd I Say?"

The Dance Band was started in 1962 by a group of musically inclined students. Each Tuesday afternoon and late into the evening, band members could be heard in the auditorium, practicing and arranging their own numbers. The dance band plays for school mixers — anything from "What'd I say" to "Misty" — and feature their own vocalist.

THE NEWS OF NEW HAVEN COLLEGE

The Editor

The NEWS, the student newspaper at the College increased publication to two issues a month this year. Previously, the paper was produced monthly. The paper was rated "First Class" by Associated Collegiate Press, which evaluates several hundred papers throughout the country.

Jay Kaplowitz served as Editor-in-Chief of the NEWS. He was assisted by Bette Spodnick, Managing Editor; Dick Roy, News Editor; William Bucknall, Night Editor; Linda Harnish, Assignment Editor; and Myrna Block, Women's Editor. Sanford Levine was Business Manager. Other members of the Business Staff were Raymond Sanzone, and Frank Tyrrell. Fred Dowling, William Johnson and George Lang made up the Photography Staff.

Several innovations were introduced in the past year's publication. Managing Editor, Bette Spodnick was in charge of a feature page, which included reviews, portraits on students, articles by members of the faculty and columns by student staffers.

Also, an evening page, edited by William Bucknall and prepared by students in Alvin Sizer's course in Journalism in the Evening Credit Program was introduced to inform the evening students of the news within their division. Mr. Sydney Goluboff was advisor.

A-1 column in the making.

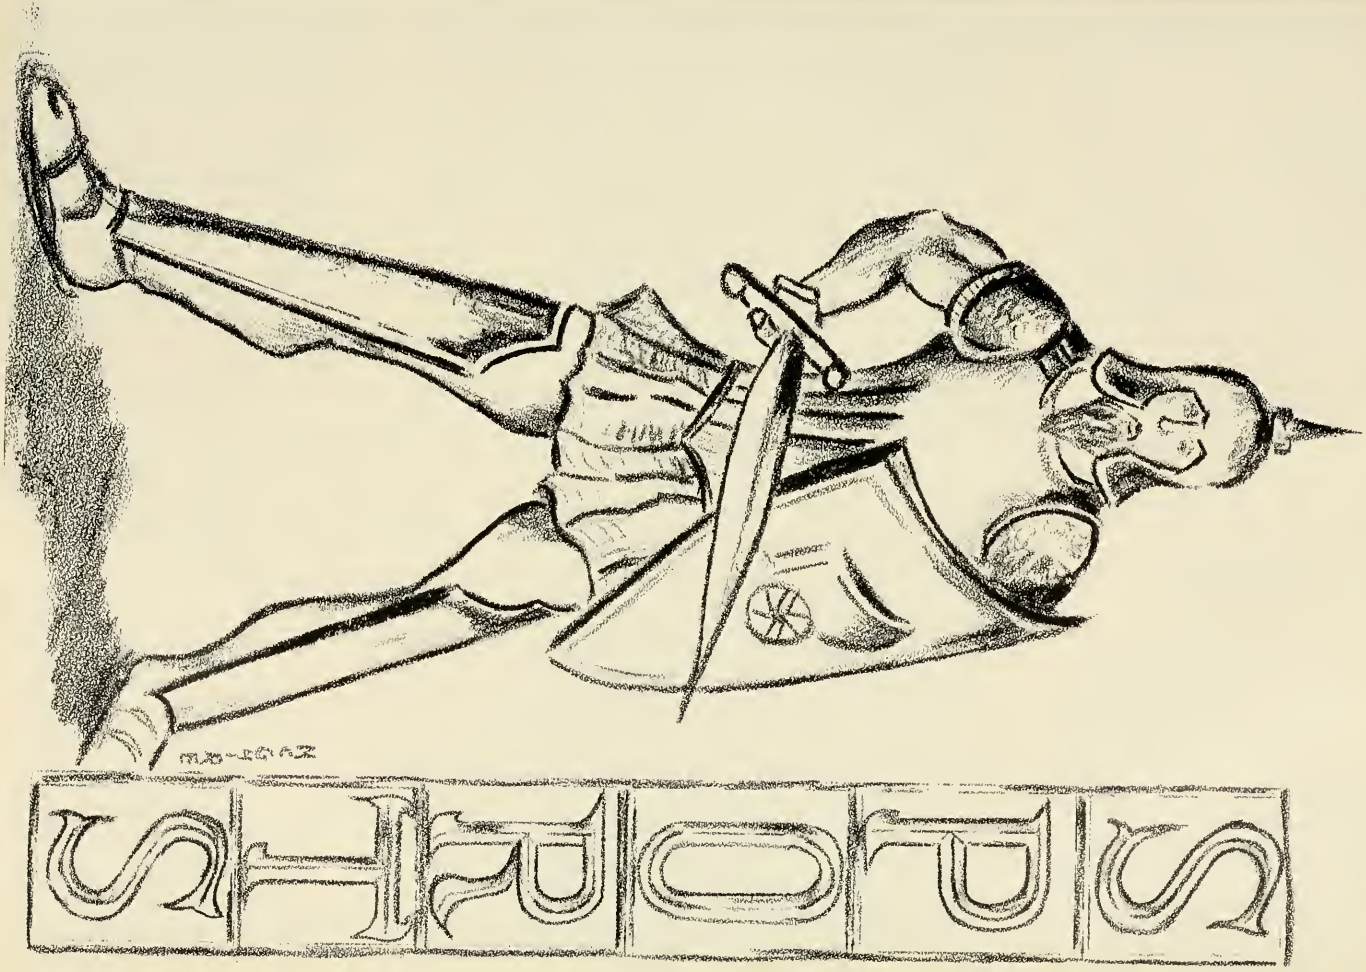
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The yearbook would sincerely like to express its thanks to Judy Haynes for assuming the position of activities editor midway through the completion of this publication. Without her Herculean efforts it is safe to say this yearbook would be without an activities section. Miss Haynes devoted a great deal of time of which none was spare, to help the editor-in-chief complete this book. Again the editor-in-chief and the staff would like to thank Miss Haynes.

The yearbook would also like to extend its thanks to Phelps Montgomery for the numerous photographs which he has taken for this neophyte publication. Just by thumbing through the activities section you will be able to see Phelps' touch on many of the photographs. Phelps donated his time to taking these pictures and we on the yearbook wish to acknowledge this contribution.

When it comes time to put a yearbook together photographs are taken from previous years that provide a candid shot, a humorous pose, or a serious moment in the life of a college student. Many of these photographs seen throughout the yearbook were taken by Bill Johnson and Fred Dowling.



DONALD R. ORMROD, Director

In addition to his duties as Athletic Director and basketball coach, Don Ormrod heads up the physical education department, established in September 1961 as part of New Haven College's expanding curriculum. Mr. Ormrod is a graduate of the University of Massachusetts. After his graduation from Massachusetts he was director of recreation in Pittsfield, Mass., and has served as physical education instructor at YMCAs in Providence, Waterbury and New Haven.

FRANK VIEIRA

Frank Vieira is a graduate of Quinnipiac College in Hamden, Conn. After his graduation from Quinnipiac, he taught at St. Anthony's High School in Bristol, Conn., for two years before assuming his present position. In addition to his teaching duties on the physical education staff, Mr. Vieira is head baseball coach and assists in basketball. He is currently studying at Southern Connecticut State College for a Master's Degree.

MRS. LOIS LYNCH KELLY

Mrs. Kelly is an instructor of physical education for women students at New Haven College. She is a 1957 graduate of New Haven State Teachers College. She joined the New Haven College staff in September 1961. Prior to joining the staff, she taught physical education classes for a year and a half in the North Haven, Conn., elementary school system. Prior to entering New Haven State, she attended Sacred Heart Academy. She has taught swimming classes at the New Haven YWCA.

RICHARD CURRAN

Mr. Curran is a graduate of Yale University and is currently completing work toward a law degree at Yale. Mr. Curran is the head soccer coach at New Haven College. He has a Master's Degree from Trinity College in Hartford, Conn., taught for one year at Kincaid High School in Houston, Texas. He has also taught at the Connecticut Child Study and Treatment Center.

PAUL DelGOBBO

Mr. DelGobbo is Director of Intramural Athletics. He handles a full program of touch football, basketball, softball, bowling and other sports for NHC's 692 day students. DelGobbo is a graduate of Wilbur Cross High School and Southern Connecticut State College. Prior to joining the New Haven College staff, he taught on a junior high school level and coached baseball and basketball at Milford Prep School for three years. He was an outstanding intercollegiate basketball and baseball player.

BASKETBALL STATISTICS

INDIVIDUAL

Most points single game: 42 by Mel Horowitz vs. Concordia, February 16, 1962

Most field goals single game: 18 by Mel Horowitz vs. Windham College, February 26, 1962

Most free throws single game: 16 by Bill Porto vs. Mitchell College, November 22, 1960

Highest points one season: 543 by Mel Horowitz during 1961-62
Highest season average: 28.5 by Mel Horowitz during 1961-62

Mel Horowitz scored 543 points in 19 games last year. He was never held under double figures. His lowest game was 13 against Windham College. Some of his biggest nights included: 42 against Concordia, 40 against Windham, 37 against Curry, 35 against Barrington, and 34 against Holyoke.

Last year we opened and finished the season with five freshmen in our starting line-up. We were very small, but we had speed. We had hustle and we had some excellent shooters. With the addition of height and experience, the future outlook of the cagers is bright.

Governors, Councils Set Meeting

The joint dinner meeting between the Board of Governors and the Day and Evening Student Councils is slated March 28 at 6 p.m. in the auditorium.

The Day Student Council plans to discuss construction of a proposed combination dormitory and student union building. The Council will conduct a survey to determine student interest in such a building. The Evening Council has decided not to submit any topics for discussion this year.

Each committee of the Board will submit a report, to be followed by discussion.

Last year's meeting was the first after a five year lapse. Bachelor degree programs in Mechanical Engineering and General Studies, the Joint Development Fund, Saturday classes and the parking problem were discussed at the meeting.

A FAMILY AFFAIR: Ellen and Kevin Reynolds pose for photos after donating blood here recently. Their mother, Mrs. Vincent Reynolds, also gave. It was Mrs. Reynolds' sixth blood donation while Ellen and Kevin were both giving for the third time. Other pictures and story on page three.

Day Council Hits Drama Club Again Over Constitution

The Day Student Council has suspended the Drama Club as a de jure organization because the club has failed to draw up a constitution. The Club thus becomes de facto, meaning it has no legal substance and more importantly, no operating budget.

The Council took the action — [illegible] it's [illegible] to prepare a constitution. Although a constitution was drawn up by the club last year, it was thrown out at the start of the year and hasn't been replaced.

In November, the Council froze the Drama Club's funds until President Phelps Montgomery and advisor Claude McNeal appeared. The Council questioned the pair extensively at that time and an informal "gentlemans" agreement came forth that allowed the Club until the end of the semester to come up with a constitution.

Drama Club money wasn't the only pecuniary matter discussed at recent Council meetings.

To Pay Judy Haynes

The Council voted — but only after a heated debate in executive session—to pay Judy Haynes $120 for services rendered while she was not a member of the Council. At the Feb. 14 meeting, a motion was passed to reimburse Miss Haynes, leaving details to be worked out by the Executive Committee.

Two weeks later, the Executive Committee reported it favored a stipend of $100. A motion introduced by Richard Beatty to pay her $25 was also defeated but a proposal to pay her the $120 sum was finally passed.

Book Drive Chairman

In other Council business, Edward Tomasciewicz was appointed chairman of the Book Drive, replacing Miss Haynes, who resigned because of lack of time. A letter will be sent to the West Haven Junior Chamber of Commerce which has volunteered to aid in the drive.

A motion to remove Joann Vanscore from the Council was withdrawn by Al Nicholson. The Council voted to send two representatives to a regional meeting of the National Student Assoc. in Springfield, Mass. Gary Robinson and Judy Haynes attended the session, which was held last weekend.

EVENING COUNCIL MEETING

The Evening Student Council will meet Friday at 10 p.m. in the conference room to elect a new vice-president. The Council plans to conduct a survey next week to learn student preferences about summer school courses.

Six Post 4.0 Averages

200 Students Named To Dean's List

Two hundred students have been named to the largest Dean's List in the College's history. Of the total, 94 are day students.

Registration officials attributed the size of the list to the increase in enrollment.

Six students — three each from the Day and Evening Divisions— posted 4.0 quality point ratios. The day students are Joseph J. O'Hara Jr., Michael D. Riccuti and Lawrence Spellacy. William R. Gavin, Harry C. Hubbard and Oliver J. Pmuk Jr. recorded perfect averages in the Evening Credit Program.

In order to be named to the Dean's List students are required to earn a 3.2 quality point ratio in the current semester. Evening students must achieve a minimum average of 3.2 on all courses taken at the College when at least 14 semester hours have been completed.

Day students named to the Dean's List are Robert Angelucci, John Anquillare, Vincent Apicella, George Assenza, Michael Backes, Fillmore Bain, Richard Beattie, John Bell, Eugene Boyko, Walter Bradley, Neil Brigaglio, David Brown, Donald Buchta, William Bucknall and Theodore Busch.

Also, Vincent Campularo, James Carillo, Stephen Conlon, Peter Connelly, Patrick Donahue, Frank Elliott, Glenn Evans, Genaro Ferraro, Thomas Fisher, Maurice Ford, Dorothy Gadomski, Paul Gamache, David Harvey, George Gilpatrick, Mary Goldstein, Phyllis Grande, Arley Hamilton, [illegible], Marvin Heckler, [illegible], Peter Ingersoll, John In-

Manager Lauds Clean Up Campaign In Cafeteria; Volunteers To Patrol

By BARBARA EVARTS

A campaign to clean up the cafeteria recently initiated by the Day Student Council, has "done some good" according to Mrs. Evelyn Cullen, cafeteria manager. However, she pointed out that "there still could be more cooperation from students."

During one fifteen minute period in the cafeteria, this writer observed that the following items were left on the tables: 24 coffee cups; two juice cans; nine milk cartons; two knives and seven plates. In addition, an assortment of wrappers and packages was left.

During this period, a Council representative was present, but no tickets were issued.

Students said they failed to dispose of litter and return utensils for the following reasons: the distance they might be from the cafeteria when they took the [illegible] will pick it up and the place is such a mess, why bother.

The problem arose this fall when Food Crafts, Inc. began full service here. When the Culinary Institute operated the cafeteria, the College employed Peter Fydyshyn, whose main job was to keep the cafeteria clean.

The College's agreement with Food Crafts calls for the company to clean the tables, but specifies that students and faculty members will bus their own dishes. This is the same type of arrangement which exists at many universities and also in industries which maintain dining rooms.

A group of [illegible] cafeteria [illegible] accepted [illegible] Visitors are fined one dollar.

Publication Of Roundtable Postponed Until Next Fall

The first edition of The Roundtable, the College's literary magazine, has been delayed until next fall. Lack of sufficient material was given as the reason for the postponement.

The action was taken jointly by the Day Student Council's publications committee, Editor-in-chief David Beckerman and faculty advisors. Although more than 100 manuscripts had been received, the number acceptable did not warrant publication at this time.

The magazine had never gotten off the ground. Prudence Robertson, named editor-in-chief last fall, left school at the end of the semester to travel and study abroad.
